Property management, simplified.

Kiri is a centralized platform designed for landlords to manage multiple properties and automate communication with tenants.

Its philosophy is to minimize manual administration by integrating essential property management workflows, such as maintenance, legal documentation, scheduling, and utilities management directly into the application, reducing the need for external messaging.